

Pregnancy and Infant Loss Remembrance Day Events

October 15, 2011

What happens when five women from completely different walks of life each lose a baby?

Support.
Healing.
Friendship.

Baby Dust: A Novel about Pregnancy Loss Book Launch and Signing with author Deanna Roy

3 p.m. at The Book Spot
1205 Round Rock Ave #119
Round Rock, TX 78681 (Corner of 620 and Lake Creek Dr.
by Round Rock High School.)

Face to Face Austin Meet and Greet

A local support group affiliate of Faces of Loss, Faces of Hope, will be hosting a gathering at a restaurant immediately following the launch, about 4:30.

7 p.m. Wave of Light Candlelighting

Deanna Roy has hosted the annual candlelighting to coincide with the international wave of light for Pregnancy and Infant Loss Remembrance Day for many years.

We meet by the pond next to the lighted fountains behind the Long Center to light our candles from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. in a silent memorial vigil. Park off Riverside Drive near Auditorium Shores or in the lot on Dawson Rd.

We recommend LED candles in addition to traditional ones as drought conditions may lead security to ask us to extinguish open flames.
